

Dr Hisham Al-Assam

BEng in Software Engineering and Information Systems, PhD in Computer Science

Hisham is Lecturer in Applied Computing at Buckingham His main expertise is in biometric template security and user privacy, multi-factor and multi-modality authentication, remote biometric authentication for mobile transactions, cancellable biometrics, biometric-based cryptographic key generation and security analysis, and revocable biometric cryptosystems. His recent research interests also include biomedical image processing and analysis, and applied compressive sensing.

Tel: +44 (01280) 828276

Email: hisham.al-assam@buckingham.ac.uk

