

Ian Waller

I am a retired genealogist with over thirty years' experience in English research and am now an author and speaker. I undertake talks, lectures and workshops on many aspects of family and local history. Talks are delivered to family and local history societies, U3A groups and other interest groups throughout the home counties, East Anglia and south east England.

